A NOTABLE WEDDING.

J. Coffman to Miss Mildred Smith, of Kennedy.

On Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, Miss Mildred Louise Smith, and John G. Coffman were united in wedlock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs Web Smith of the Kennedy mine. The ceremony took place in the parlor of the residence, which was tastily dressed with berries, ferns and flowers from the city. Precisely at 9 the bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride being elegantly attired in a white messaline satin gown, holding in her hand a bouquet of white rosebuds. The bridesmaids were Miss Norma Smith, sister of the bride, and Miss Albina Paramino of San Francisco, both prettily attired in pink. The groomsmen were M. C. Claverty, an acquaintance of Mr Coffman from boyhood days, in his home in Kansas. Rev. C. E. Winning, M. E. minister of Grass Valley, and formerly pastor of the church here, performed the ceremony that made the happy couple man and wife. Following the marriage the pair were the recipients of the congratulations of those present, after which the company sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast.

Those present were relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties, namely: G. A. Richardson, editor of the El Dorado Republican, and wife, of Placerville; Miss Coffman and Mrs Groff, sisters of the groom of San Francisco; Rev. C. E. Winning and wife of Grass Valley, Nevada county; Miss Albina Paramino of San Francisco, and Mr and Mrs O. E. Martin of Amador City, Mrs C. D. Smith of Amador, Mr and Mrs L. Griffith of Plymouth, Mr and Mrs McPherson of Martells, Mr and Mrs James Chichizola of Amador City, Mr and Mrs P. Leply and daughter, J. W. Caldwell and wife, R. I. Kerr and W. J. Peters, all of Jackson; M. C. Claverty of Kansas, and the parents of the bride. Many useful and ornamental presents of jewelry, glassware, etc., were presented to the bride.

Shortly after the wedding repast the happy couple were driven to Lartobe, the bride attired in a traveling tailor suit of gray, whence they proceeded to Sacramento, and there took the overland train of the Central Pacific the same night for Kansas. On a visit to the home of Mr Coffman's parents. They expect to return by way of the Southern route about January 1st, and make their home at Martell, where Mr Coffman is employed as station agent.

The bride is the accomplished and charming daughter of Web Smith, superintendent of the Kennedy mine. For several years she has been employed as stenographer in the law office of W. J. McGee in this city. The Ledger joins the host of friends of the newly married pair in wishing them a long life of matrimonial happiness.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup not only heals irritation and allays inflammation, thereby stopping the cough, but it moves the bowels gently and in that way drives the cold from the system. Contains no opiates. It is pleasant to take, and children especially like the taste, so nearly like maple sugar. Sold by City Pharmacy, F. W. Rubser, Prop.

Sutter Creek Bank Premises

Fred Eudey, receiver of the Sutter Creek State Bank, received four bids for the bank premises in Sutter Creek, pursuant to the notice for bids published in the Ledger. The property offered includes the bank premises, with the post office. It is only a portion of the real estate owned by the bank, and does not include the drug store, nor the story above the bank, where the Masonic hall is located. The highest bid was from the Amador Bank for $2250. The hearing on confirmation of sale will come up on the 21st instant, when parties interested will have an opportunity of raising the price if they so desire. It is understood that the Amador Bank wants the property to start a branch bank in Sutter Creek.

A PERTINENT INQUIRY.

A correspondent of the Calaveras Prospect asks the pertinent question, Why, in face of a clear majority of between two and three hundred for the presidential ticket, the republicans failed to elect their local candidates. Man for man they were fully equal to their opponents in all the essential qualifications for the offices sought, and yet they went down to defeat. The writer wants the republicans to search out the causes with the view of adopting remedial measures. The same inquiry will apply with even greater force to conditions in Amador county. The official figures of the late show an average majority of 150 for the republican presidential electors. This may be accepted as a correct index of political sentiment in this county. The majority for Roosevelt over Parker four years ago was 168, on a total vote of 2790—fully 500 in excess of the number of votes polled last week. So that Taft ran as well—considering the vote cast—as Roosevelt did in 1904. Amador has firmly planted herself in the republican ranks on national questions. But when it comes to local candidates what a totally different tale is told. There were four candidates nominated as straight-out republicans for local positions, and every one of them went down to defeat. In one or two instances, perhaps, the outcome was no more than could have been expected. But even if this be admitted, it offers no adequate solution of the situation. There is no reason why republicans should not be able to put up just as strong candidates as the democrats. It is absurd to say that the party of the majority has less available and efficient material for filling the public offices than the party of the minority. The reverse should be, and as a rule doubtless is, true, here as elsewhere. There may be something in the contention that the most available men on the republican side are not of the office-seeking class, and are averse to making a political fight. But the fact remains, that republican nominees as well, if not better, qualified than their opponents for the positions sought, were defeated by the votes of their fellow republicans. In every district in which a supervisor had to be elected there was a good majority of republican voters. In township four, for example, the republican presidential ticket received between 50 and 60 votes more than the Bryan ticket. This margin is equal to fully one-eighth of the total vote cast. The republican candidate was honest and capable. Nothing could be truthfully urged against his fitness. And yet he was scratched to defeat to the tune of 16 majority for his opponent. A similar outcome was furnished by the contest in supervisor district one, with its clear republican majority of about 50. This sort of thing is very discouraging. We cannot believe that it can be accounted for on the theory that republicans are more inclined to be capricious in marking their ballots than the democrats. Any explanation that assumes that republicans are less loyal in local affairs than other partisans must be discarded. With the masses of voters party ties in the selection of local officers have very little influence. The choice of the individual is determined by his personal knowledge of the candidates or by selfish considerations. Still we believe, all things being equal, republicans will stay with their local ticket just as well as any other class of voters.

At the very earliest moment republicans should get together and take action to impart a better tone in relation to local politics. If errors of judgment have militated against success in the past let them be freely discussed and corrected. Factional squabbles in the ranks should be frowned down. We have enough to do to fight the common enemy without trying to down those of our own political household. A vitally important matter is the adoption of rules and regulations for the guidance of the county central committee. To impart confidence in the rank and file, a spirit of self-denial must be manifested. In two years hence a full county ticket must be elected. Every effort should be made to strengthen the morale of the party for that event. It is absolutely necessary in order to get the right candidates, and command the loyal support of the party voters for the ticket.

The Daring Pike.

The boldness of a pike is very extraordinary. I have seen one follow a bait within a foot of the spot where I have been standing, and the head keeper of Richmond park assured me that he was once washing his hand at the side of a boat in the great pond in that park when a pike made a dart at it and he had but just time to withdraw it.

A gentleman now residing in Weybridge, in Surrey, informed me that, walking one day by the side of the river Wey near that town, he saw a large pike in a shallow creek. He immediately pulled off his coat, tucked up his shirt sleeves and went into the water to intercept the return of the fish to the river and to endeavor to throw it upon the bank by getting his hands under it.

During this attempt the pike, finding he could not make his escape, seized one of the arms of the gentleman and lacerated it so much that the wound took a month to heal.—London Fishing Gazette.

He Caught O'Connell.

Daniel O'Connell, the famous orator, when taking a ride in the neighborhood of his house had occasion to ask an urchin to open a gate for him. The little fellow complied with much alacrity and looked up with such an honest pleasure at rendering the slight service that O'Connell said:

"When I see you again I'll give you sixpence."

Riding briskly on, he soon forgot the incident and fell to thinking of graver matters, when, after traveling some miles, he found his path obstructed by some fallen timber, which a boy was stoutly endeavoring to remove. On looking more closely he discovered it to be the same boy he had met in the morning.

"What!" cried he, "How do you come to be here now?"

"You" said, sir, the next time you see me you'd give me sixpence," said the little fellow, wiping the perspiration from his brow.

The Very Thing.

The old gentleman poked his nose in and out of the mysterious corners of the furniture shop.

"By the way," he said suddenly, "my daughter has just started to—er—have a young man come calling, and I suppose I really ought to get a pretty sofa for them to make love on."

"Most certainly, sir!" responded the suave shopman. "And here, I think, I have the very thing you need. It is called 'Cupid's Retreat' and is specially suited for courting couples."

"Specially suited?" repeated the old gentleman. "Well, what is its particular good point?"

"Why, sir, the particular good point is this—the pretty covering you see before you is guaranteed to wear off in just one year."

"And what on earth's the use of that?" asked the old gent.

"Why, sir, because it leaves displayed a card upon which are written the words, 'Time to get married!' Neat, isn't it?"—London Answers.

Quiser Virginia Oysters.

But, sure enough, did you know there were some oysters, and Virginia oysters at that, which cannot live always under sheets of water? The seaside oyster does not grow in deep water, say over ten feet, and the most and best of them grow in water so shoal that it is dry ebb half the time. These latter are the most prolific seed bearers we have, but they will die if planted in deep water or in the Chesapeake bay. The inside or bay oyster should never ebb bare to thrive best. Singular, isn't it, that the Virginia oysters, one and the same bivalves, can lead a double life, but only one phase of it at a time! The seaside fellow must be out of water a good portion of his time to thrive, while the bay and river fellow will die in summer and freeze in winter if exposed to the air.—Virginia Citizen.

The Roast.

"To judge woman by her looks is to court error," said a well known woman. "I know a man who while carving at a dinner wished to say something that would please the pale, deep eyed, spirituelle girl at his side."

"How do you like Maeterlinck?" he at last inquired.

"Well done," she answered, not once lifting her eyes from the great roast he was working on.—Washington Post.

A Difficult Case.

A physician received late one evening a note from three of his fellow practitioners:

"Please step over to the club and join us at a rubber of whist."

"Emilie, dear," he said to his wife, "here I am called away again. It appears to be a difficult case—there are three other doctors on the spot already."

New.

"I want you," said the stage manager, "to play the part of a banker, and I want you to try to play it with a touch of originality."

"All right," responded Yorick Hamm, "I'll leave off the mutton chop whiskers."—Kansas City Journal.

The Difficulty.

"Could you bring yourself to live in a flat on 24 a week?"

"I could, Harold," answered the pampered yet unspooled darling. "But I do not know just how it would suit my French maid."—London Tatler.

The Real Question.

"Where does he get his money?"

"I don't know where he gets his, and I don't care. What I am interested in is knowing just how he gets mine."—Nashville American.

Amador County Descriptive Article

Amador county comprises an area of 548 square miles. It lies on the western slope of Sierra Nevada mountains, and embraces within its territory all the diversity of valley, foothill, and high mountainous lands.

Climate.—The climate of the populous portions of the county is as genial and healthful as can be found anywhere in California. As climate is one of the most valuable assets of this favored state in attracting population, Amador stands second to no county in this regard. It should, and no doubt will in time, when its climatic advantages are more thoroughly understood and appreciated, become a health resort not only for those in less favored states, but for the residents of other parts of California. The temperature alone the central portion rarely falls below 30 degrees above zero in winter, and as rarely rises to 100 degrees in the summer. Snow seldom falls in the settled districts, and never remains on the ground for more than a few hours. Of course, in the high mountain regions of eastern Amador the snowfall is very heavy—which is characteristic of the entire Sierra Nevada range. The summer season is always accompanied with cool nights; permitting of sound, refreshing slumber. Fogs are rare, cyclones are unknown, thunderstorms are infrequent.

Gold Mining.—The county, although rich in other sources of wealth, comparatively untouched, is noted principally for her quartz mines. The deepest gold mines in America are located here. The Kennedy mine is now taking gold in liberal quantities from quartz extracted from a depth of over 3000 feet below the surface, with every indication that the pay-ore extends to a much greater depth. Since the discovery of gold, the county has contributed fully $100,000,000 to the world's supply of the precious metal. The mines are still yielding at the rate of about two million dollars annually. Nearly all this wealth is produced by eight or ten mines operating on what is called the "mother lode," stretching clear across the county in a north-easterly direction a distance of twenty miles. The mines aggregate between 400 and 500 stamps, and furnish employment for over 1000 miners. This industry is still in its infancy. The unexplored territory, even along the main gold belt, is far in excess of the ground that has actually been worked or prospected. The county offers to anyone one of the most inviting fields to be found anywhere in the world for the investment of capital in the fascinating business of gold mining, not alone along the mother lode, but also in the almost untouched mineralized country of the east belt, some ten or twelve miles from the main lode.

Besides gold, we have copper, deposits of pottery, coal, marble, slate, limestone, granite, and soapstone or talc—all undeveloped.

Agricultural Capabilities.—The agricultural possibilities equal, if not excel, the mineral riches. The valley lands will produce anything that can be grown in the most favored sections. In the foothill lands all kinds of deciduous fruits thrive; also all kinds of vegetables are raised where irrigation is practicable along the numerous water courses. Further up in the mountains, at an altitude of 2000 to 2500 feet, the soil is admirably adapted for apples and potatoes. A ready market for many times the quantity now raised of these commodities can be found in the various mining towns.

Grape culture and winemaking are becoming important industries, both the grapes and wine commanding a better price than the product of the vineyard.

Land is cheap compared with other California lands. Improved farms may be secured for one-fourth the price current in some places. Unimproved lands can be had from $5 to $10 per acre. It does not require a fortune to buy a small ranch. There is room for large addition to our agricultural population. Vast tracts now devoted to little ranges might be made the homes of hundreds of prosperous farmers.

Amador has a population of less than 2000. Three fourths of this is concentrated in a strip of three miles above and below the mineral belt.

Jackson, the county seat, has about 200 inhabitants, and is incorporated by act of the sixth class. Other towns are Sutter Creek, Amador City, Dryden, Plymouth, Volcano, Pine Grove and Oleta. Ione City is the metropolis of the valley section, a thriving town of 1000 inhabitants.

The community is law-abiding. Educational facilities are excellent. A schoolhouse is within easy reach of early every family. There is one high school, located at Ione.

The assessment roll for 1907 is $5,000,793, and the tax rate for both state and county purposes $2 on the $100. The Southern Pacific has a branch road running to Ione. From this point the Ione and Eastern railroad extends 14 miles further to the mining section.

The various religious denominations and fraternal organizations are well represented.

The power plant of the Standard Electric Co.—one of the largest in the world—is located four miles from Jackson.

GLOBE SIGHTS.

We all "potter" too much. Whatever you do, don't play horse with your friends.

The stomach rebukes without making any explanation.

A pup is as friendly as a candidate two days before election.

We like nearly every sort of man better than a thoroughbred.

It is never safe to tell a newly married man a secret; he'll tell his wife.

Before you have been in most families two days, you are compelled to take sides.

A boy eats until he can't hold any more, and then grabs his hat and rushes for the door.

Talk five minutes with any man, confidentially and you will find he has been robbed by somebody.

When a big, strong, powerful looking man smiles and shows dimples in his cheeks, it looks funny.

There is nothing people admire more than a man and his wife who are in love with each other.

An Atchison wife has become so far emancipated that she carries a night key, and her husband hasn't any.

The greatest trial in the world is to have a trouble on your mind, and a guest in the house at the same time.

As soon as a boy comes into his mother's presence, she screams out: "How on earth did your tear your clothes!"

We have yet to meet a man who admits that his life would have been ruined if his wife had refused to marry him.

Occasionally a man who has a naturally cheerful disposition depends too much upon it, and becomes generally worthless.

Somehow a coffin carried on a country road in a farm wagon, looks a great deal more horrible than when seen in a hearse.

A widower who has one foot in the grave, has taken it out, and put it in a yellow shoe, and is having his house painted bridal style.

About the worst use you can put a man to is to stand him on a corner, and let him growl about what the city ought to "do" in the way of improvements.

A bride-to-be can easily understand why her fiancé's mother is in doubt whether any woman is good enough for her son, but a good many wives can't explain it.

We have often noticed this: Two men will be walking along, and one will say to the other: "What's the matter with you? Are you crazy?" His first guess is crazy.

We have seen some sort of a card game wherein those engaged play "for safety." After a man passes fifty, and even before, he should play for safety in the game of life.

Formerly the hunters of this section killed turkeys, and deer and wild geese, and prairie chickens. Now about all they get is a mud hen occasionally. In five years they will come home with big bags of English sparrows. In ten years there will be nothing left to shoot except grasshoppers.

The manner in which some people disagree always amuses us. One man will believe that a certain doctrine is immensely important, and devote much time to spreading it. Another man will declare that the doctrine is silly, and devote much time to combating it. Probably both men waste a lot of energy that should be devoted to their own affairs.

Did any one ever apologize to a telephone girl?

If you have a secret, you may as well tell it to fifty as to one.

No man can afford to say all the things he would like to say.

Every man thinks that the other fellow's business is all profit.

Much of that which is called "pure devilment" is pure human nature.

What is a home? Everyone has a different definition. What is yours?

Was there ever a man who wanted to be married in church when his time came?

We imagine an awkward girl always feels worse about it than an awkward boy.

If you want to enjoy yourself, get one doctor to tell how ignorant another doctor is.

A young doctor calls diseases by their Latin names; an old doctor is not so particular.

We have noticed that if you think before you speak, the other fellow gets in his joke first.

"When I get a hair cut, I am never able to hold my head to suit the barber."—Drake Watson.

Marriage consists of five minutes at the head of the procession, and a life time in the ranks.

Have you ever noticed when you want to write a letter around home that the ink is half water?

"Isn't it too bad she smokes cigarettes?" said a Young Thing recently; "she has such beautiful hair."

After a boy goes barefoot all summer, the bottom of his feet feel like the hard place under a dog's claws.

It is harder for a man to refuse anything he likes, because it isn't good for him, than it is for a woman.

WEST AUSTRALIA.

Recently, The Globe reviewed a souvenir pamphlet, issued by the government of New South Wales, Australia, welcoming the American fleet to Sydney, and telling of the vast resources of that great state. This week we received a copy of the Perth (West Australia) Sunday Times, which shows that the fleet's welcome to the west coast was no less cordial than the greeting of their Eastern neighbors.

Perth is almost as far from Sydney as San Francisco is from New York, but the two are not separated by as many states, nor as many people. States are large, and population small in Australia. But Australia and America sprang from the same mother country, and there was something more than the ordinary blare of trumpets and waving of flags, for the two great liberal governments feel they have other things in common as well as blood.

It is another great state, this West Australia; great in area, resources and ambition, if not in population. It is half as large as Europe. From Albany, where the fleet stopped, to Wyndham, in the northern part of the state, is 1,200 miles. The area of the state is 475,920 square miles, or almost six times the size of Kansas. In all that vast territory there are little more than a quarter of a million people, almost all of whom are Anglo-Saxons. That is a far smaller population than that of New South Wales, which is all too sparsely populated, and West Australia is also of larger area. The climate of the Western state is said to be delightful, and over most of the area there is an ample rainfall. With all that land, it offers many opportunities to settlers, and, like all Australian states, it is looking for immigrants, providing they are the proper kind. Americans and British being preferred.

Fruit, and nearly all products of the temperate zone are grown to considerable extent. In the northern part of the state tropical and sub-tropical products may be grown. Much of this land is open to homestead, at the nominal cost of $20 for a 160-acre farm, and if more land is wanted it may be had for $2.50 per acre. Much of this land is suited to wheat raising, and wheat is now one of the main crops, although little more is produced in the whole big state than one good county of Kansas yields. The average yield is slightly below what is counted a fair crop in Kansas, being about twelve bushels per acre. As a further inducement to settlers, West Australia maintains an agricultural bank, where farm owners may obtain loans at reasonable interest for the purposes of improving their land, or purchase of stock for breeding purposes. For those not interested in agricultural, West Australia offers opportunities in mining and lumbering, which they claim to be superior to those of British Columbia. Gold is by far the leading mineral production, but there are tin, lead, copper and several others of lesser importance.

West Australia did not become a white man's land to any great extent until 1828, although it was visited by white men before the east coast was, and was, for a time, claimed by Holland, and called New Holland, but the Dutch never made much progress in its development, and it went to the British for lack of other tenants.

HITS AND MISSES.

McCure's: "The Spanish war was won by two naval victories—Manila and Santiago. Naturally, the fame of the American navy, and especially of its gunnery, flamed across the world. As a matter of fact, the shooting at Manila and Santiago was about as bad as possible. At Manila 50 per cent of the shots missed at a range of from 6,000 to 4,000 yards; at Santiago—the chief battle of the war—at least 98 per cent. A special commission of officers, which was appointed to examine the wrecks of the Spanish ships at Santiago, established this fact officially. It reported that of 9,500 projectiles fired, only 123, or 1.3 per cent, had found a mark on the Spanish ships. Making every possible allowance for hits which could not readily be seen upon the wrecks, not one shot in fifty struck its mark. The day of the battle was clear, the sea smooth, the targets were twenty feet high and 200 feet long, and the range was 2,800 yards. English gunners at that time could have hit the Spanish ships at least two out of every five shots. Fortunately for us, the fact that we were fighting a thoroughly senile power, whose ships had neither gunners nor proper ammunition aboard, gave us an undisputed victory. But there has been a change, the American navy now leads the world in shooting."

Too Many Trombones.

The following anecdote concerning Donizetti and the score of Rossini's "Otello" is told by the Musical World: Donizetti had asked Sigismondi, the director of the Naples Conservatorio, to look over the score with him, and the two sat down at a table with the work in front of them. Presently Sigismondi began to rave about his "monstrous orchestration." Terrible was his indignation when he found that clarinets, bassoons and trombones had been employed in one place to swell a crescendo, but when the fortissimo was reached he uttered a cry of despair, struck the score violently with his fist, upset the table and rushed from the room, exclaiming: "A hundred and twenty-three trombones! A hundred and twenty-three trombones!" Donizetti in vain tried to call him back, shouting after him, "Not 123 trombones, but first, second and third trombones." Sigismondi would not listen and when last seen was still repeating, "A hundred and twenty-three trombones!"

Cannibal Japs.

Young Lieutenant Marlinspike's bathing suit revealed on his right arm an Uncle Sam and on his left a peacock, while around his neck a gleaming serpent was coiled, the mouth holding its tail.

"This is Japanese tattooing," the lieutenant said proudly, "Nagasaki work. I was under the needle nineteen hours in all. My two tattooers drank quite a pint of my blood."

"Jap tattooers are all blood drinkers. They like it. They get to like it in the end as you or I like tobacco."

"You see, as they work the blood wells forth. It flows over the design, and then, very carefully, without smearing the wet ink, they lick the blood up delicately with the tongue. Every Jap tattooer as he picks and picks away at you bends down every few minutes and licks the little rising tide of blood away."

"If he is a seasoned tattooer he swallows the blood. He likes it, he says."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Russian Women.

A Russian paid the following glowing tribute to the women of his native land: "The women of Russia combine the vivacity and wit of the Frenchwoman with the industry and thrift for which the women of Germany are famous. She is a superb wife and mother and withal a fine mental worker. The Russian girl student is generally in the front rank at the universities. Doubtless some of her fine qualities are due to the fact that in Russia women are free and are in every respect considered to be the equals of men. Russian women are born politicians and diplomats and so intensely patriotic that they esteem no sacrifice too great for their country; hence as revolutionists—however misguided—they are infinitely more daring and devoted than the men. Secrets have been wrung from male revolutionaries by torture, but never from the women."

Sliding Down a Cask.

One of the vintage ceremonies at Klosterneuburg, the famous convent where the Viennese visit annually on St. Leopold's day, consists in sliding down a giant cask of wine. The immense cask was first filled in the famous wine year of 1711. The origin of the sliding is found in a story of a cooper who was in the habit of returning home in a merry condition. His wife fetched him one day from the village inn, and he attempted to hide behind the cask. She seized a broom, however, and with the help of several friends forced him to scramble up one side and slide to the ground on the opposite as a punishment for his conduct.—London Mail.

Clean Food.

It is a good deal more important that food shall not carry the germs of disease than that it shall be chemically pure. Table salt, for example, may contain some soda salts other than the chloride and still be perfectly healthful. Corn bread is less healthful when made from pure cornmeal than when it has some admixture of wheat flour. But food that is not clean may be more dangerous than any adulterated food product sold today, provided the adulterated article carries no disease germs.—Boston Advertiser.

Sympathy.

A kind hearted little slum girl on a visit to the country saw one evening a mother hen about to gather her brood of chicks under her wings. The little girl rushed up to the hen and shouted: "Shoo, you ugly thing! How dare you sit down on these beautiful little birds?"

Vicarious Osculation.

He was having some words with her chaperon. "I'll kiss her right under your nose!" he said defiantly.

"Oh, well," said that lady, "vicarious kissing like that I can see no objection to."—Boston Transcript.

The Widower.

A widower is like a baby. The first six months he cries a lot, the second six months he begins to sit up and take notice, and he experiences great difficulty in getting through his second year alone.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Willing to Tell.

"One-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives," declared a notorious lady gossip.

"That isn't your fault," quietly observed one of her auditors.

Though wrong may win, its victory is brief.—Leonard.

Just as Good.

"We are trying to educate our readers to recognize the evils of substitution," said the business manager of one of the popular magazines. "Through our advertising pages we are trying to get them up to the point where they will insist upon getting what they ask for and will take nothing else. The merchant who has 'something just as good' is no more to be depended upon than a clerk in a certain country store which a friend visited to buy something."

"My friend had been invited unexpectedly to make an automobile trip and was not fully prepared for it. The roads were very dusty, and after traveling several miles the party came to a little country village, where my friend thought he might be able to purchase something to protect his clothing. The automobile halted before the general store of the village. My friend alighted and accosted a drowsy clerk. 'I want to get a linen duster,' he said.

"I am very sorry," said the clerk, "but we are just out of linen dusters. I can let you have a nice feather duster!"

The Wearing of a Watch.

At a meeting of the British Watch and Clock Makers' guild "Which is the better way to keep a watch at night—lying flat or hanging up?" was debated. The general opinion was that it was better to let it lie flat. The vice president of the guild said it depended upon the kind of watch. If it were one such as Captain Cuttle wore or anything incapable of giving some sort of timekeeping, the wearer should be advised to keep it always in one position. It will wear out sooner, but that does not much matter. A good watch should lie flat at night. The variation of rate between hanging and lying is very small, and the difference is practically constant, so that the mean rate is constant. In the hanging position all the parts are running on the side bearings, where there is the greatest friction and wear. By letting the watch lie flat at night and run on the end bearings, where there is less friction, the wear is distributed and the watch made more durable.

Joys of Being Fat.

According to a writer, in an English magazine, it is the fat men that get all the good things in life. They are conducted to the best tables at restaurants, they get the corner seats in the theater and always seem to have enough money to get along without worrying. When a fat man enters a drawing room, doesn't he always get the most comfortable chair? asks the writer. When his hat blows off on a windy day, doesn't some one always run after it for him? No one expects him to get up in a bus or a train to give his seat to a lady. He would block the gangway if he did. Even his wife doesn't expect him to stoop to pick up things when she drops them. Everybody tells him the best stories, because everybody likes to hear him laugh.

When the Woman Fainted.

A traveling man was in a smoking car when a man rushed in from the car behind evidently in a great agitation and said: "Has any one in this car any whisky? A woman in the other car has fainted."

Instantly a dozen flasks were produced. The man who had asked for it picked out the largest one, drew the cork and put the bottle to his lips. With a long, satisfied sigh, he handed the flask back and remarked: "That did me a lot of good. I needed it, for it always makes me ill to see a woman faint away."—Kansas City Independent.

A Natural Inference.

"Pa," said Johnnie Dumbley, "what's an applepogue?"

"Why, it's a—er—a fable, my son," said Mr. Dumbley. "Usually designed to convey a moral lesson. Why do you ask?"

"Oh, nothin'," said Johnnie, "only I've lost a dime on it. Me and Billie Watkins had a bet, and I said it was the original commandment in the garden of Eden. If the Decalogue is the Ten Commandments I don't see why that first one ain't an applepogue."—Harper's Weekly.

Professional Pessimism.

The actors who solemnly advise young men and women to keep off the stage, the lawyers who speak discouragingly of the law's delays, the writers who decry their own profession, all are wasting their time and adding nothing to their own reputations. The general croaker is a pessimist and therefore a nuisance.—Chicago Tribune.

But Not Literally.

It is related of a preacher in a small town who was to be absent from his pulpit a fortnight that he recently announced after the sermon:

"The preacher for next Sunday will be Mr. Plank, and the one for the Sunday after you'll find hanging up behind the door on the other side of the vestry."

Foresight.

Algy—They want $6,000 for the lease, Maria. It runs for eighty-nine years.

Maria—Oh, don't buy it, Algy. Only eighty-nine years! Fancy, dear, baby being turned out of his house at ninety-one and possibly infirm into the bargain!—London Fun.

"If you want plenty of good plums," remarked the practical horticulturist, "you have to graft."

"Exactly," agreed the practical politician; "so you do."—Baltimore American.

Mr and Mrs Brignoli were born and reared in Sutter Creek, and have a wide circle of friends, who wish them much happiness and prosperity in their wedded life. Sutterite

GOOD NEWS.

Many Jackson Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Jackson are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Mrs L. J. Seymour, living on Pitt street, Jackson, Cal., says: "My husband suffered much from kidney trouble, the result no doubt of his work. He often came home so lame and stiff that he could not rest. He tried many remedies, but did not succeed in finding relief and was ready to give up when Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I procured a box for him at the City Pharmacy. They helped him almost immediately, he continued their use and at last received a complete cure. I never hear him complain of kidney trouble now, and know Doan's Kidney Pills to be a reliable remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

After an absence of about a year, Tony Fontenrose has returned to Sutter Creek and has gone into business having purchased and taken charge of the saloon of H. Eplett. Tony has many friends here who are pleased that he is again located in town. H. Eplett, who retires is well known here and no doubt his friends will be surprised to learn that he will soon leave here to locate in another part of the state. He has the well-wishes of many for future success.—Amador Record.

Charles Swift of this place, while at work handling timbers in the shaft of the Ione Copper Mine Monday of last week, had one of the bones of his left forearm broken. His arm got caught in a rope tied to a large timber. When the rope pulled taut it caught his arm with the above result.—Amador Record.

Arrested For Larceny.

A Montenegrin named Chetko Pistinak was arrested Sunday in Jackson on a charge of grand larceny. The case is a peculiarly barefaced instance of robbery. It seems that the accused, who formerly was employed at the Argonaut mine, but latterly has been out of work, visited the red-light district on Friday night last.

He was at the house kept by Jessie Hamilton. The following day Nick Popovich called at Vogeli's jewelry store, and offered for sale a sunburst diamond pin. Vogeli recognized the piece of jewelry as one he had sold about two months before, and declined to buy. He then took the pin to J. H. Langhorst, and was very persistent, offering to take far less than its value; saying that he had no use for such an article. Finally Langhorst bought it for $25, paying $20 in cash and $5 in trade, in a stick pin. The officers were apprised of the facts, and upon inquiry it was learned that Jessie Hamilton had missed her diamond pin, and identified the article sold as her property. Popovich explained that the man told him he had picked the article up in the street.

C. Pistinak was arrested Sunday in Jackson. He does not deny taking the pin. In fact, he showed it on leaving the woman's house to another visitor. The pin is valued at $55, which would make the offense grand larceny. Popovich, who offered the article for sale, was a candidate for trouble on his part of the transaction. He, however, returned the money paid him by Langhorst, also the pin taken in part payment. It is likely that nothing further will be done in his case.

The defendant was liberated on bonds of $2000, with Frank Simich and Lazam Skovich as sureties.

Judge Rust Sick.

Judge R. C. Rust has been confined to his house, and for the greater part of the time to his bed, since Sunday last. He is suffering from stomach trouble, and has been under the care of Dr. Gall. It was reported that he was threatened with appendicitis, but this is not confirmed. However, he has been and still is a very sick man. He has not been able to hold court since last Saturday. At last accounts he was improving.

City Tax Collection.

Up to the first of the month the city tax collector had collected on real and personal property taxes the sum of $1744.80. The total amount charged against the tax collector is $3330.47, which left a balance still uncollected of $2185.39. Taxes were not delinquent until the 5th, and between the 1st and the 5th the taxpayers came up pretty lively. The money due the city on property taxes has been tolerably well paid up, and the delinquent list will be very small. Last year the delinquent list was so insignificant that it was deemed inadvisable to publish it; the cost of publication would have exceeded the amount outstanding.

Mrs Augusta C. Bainbridge, who is one of the most active and earnest workers in the temperance field, under the direction of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, spent several days in Jackson, the latter part of last week and the fore part of this week. She made addresses to each of the classes in the public school, also the school at Kennedy Flat, endeavoring to instill into the youthful mind the importance of abstinence from the use of intoxicating drinks and narcotics. On Sunday she occupied the pulpit of the M. E. church morning and evening, and also addressed the Sunday school in the afternoon. She is an interesting speaker; has been engaged in the lecture field on the temperance question for the last 20 years. She left Monday for Sutter Creek, and the northern part of the county.

City Trustees.

An adjourned meeting was held November 12; all present except Leam.

President Garbarini reported that the purpose of meeting was to pass upon the proposed annexation to the present public cemetery.

On motion duly made and carried the board ordered the purchase of the E. Ginoecchio & Bros. piece of land adjoining the present public cemetery for the sum of $500, and the clerk was instructed to draw a warrant in favor of E. Ginoecchio & Bro. for the said amount of $500.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for sewer pipe, 140 feet of 24 inch standard sewer pipe 200 feet of 12 inch standard sewer pipe 90 feet of 16 inch standard sewer pipe

Adjourned to December 3.

Light for Ione.

W. G. Snyder who with T. J. Burrows owns a half interest in the pole line between Martells and Ione on the line of the I. and E. Railroad, is making arrangements for a supply of power from the American River Electric Company to supply light to the town of Ione. There have been negotiations with Amador Electric Light Company to sell the line to that corporation, but the terms have not been deemed satisfactory, so a contract with the American River Company is under way, the terms of which have been agreed upon. In any event, therefore, the town of Ione is likely soon to be basking in the light of the incandescent lamps.

DON'T HIDE YOUR MONEY

The man who hides his money because he assumes to be afraid of banks forgets that it was the bank that perhaps made the prosperity possible which gave him his money making opportunities. Without the bank there would be no large commercial or business enterprises possible, salaries and wages would be low, and money making impossible. It is the bank in the exercise of its function in gathering together the funds of a community and putting them into active use that has brought prosperity.

To hide money is the hinder and hurt prosperity by restricting the circulation of money.

LOCAL NEWS

J. F. Wilson, Dentist, Hours 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Phone—Office, black 441; residence, Black 394; Jackson.

A case of diphtheria has developed in Sutter Creek.

Another case of smallpox has occurred in Ione in the Robinson family; making six cases in all, in two families, four in one and two in the other. They are all mild and except the last case are convalescent.

Gilbert Voorheis left Tuesday morning for a trip to Oakland. Gus Laverone has taken his place at the National hotel in his absence.

Jos. Marre came up from the city Tuesday, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Ginoecchio.

Clovis Lagrave, deputy internal revenue collector, was in Jackson Tuesday on business concerning revenue matters. The officials come round at intervals to see whether any violations are being made of the internal revenue laws. The distilling of brandy in this section has been almost completely wiped out. A few years ago a dozen or more were engaged in distilling brandy on a small scale in this county. Now there are only two or three, and these are on the verge of quitting.

The severe application of the laws by special officers has forced about all the small distillers out of business. Where the wine makers formerly made use of their refuse in the making of brandy, the material now goes to waste.

The school in Stony Creek district was closed last week, on account of the sickness of Miss Werner, who was compelled to go to her home in Sutter Creek. The complaint is a mild form of diphtheria. She is getting along nicely toward recovery.

Jos Jones, the well known Chinese restaurant keeper and cook, who formerly conducted the Olympos and Louvre, returned to Jackson this week. He has been in business in Modesto, but the high license in that burg was more than he could hold up against.

C. C. Jensen, the celebrated optician, left here Wednesday for Sonora. He has been coming to Jackson at regular intervals for the past eleven years, and his work in adjusting eye glasses to suit the sight of the individual has given general satisfaction. He is thoroughly proficient in his profession, and reliable in every way.

LOST—A bay steer, 3 years old, branded on right hip G. R., ends of both ears cut off, weighs about 600 pounds. Finder will please notify John Raggio, Kennedy boarding house, Kennedy mine, Jackson. x

Mrs W. J. Nettle left Monday morning for Byron Springs, where Mr Nettle has been taking treatment for rheumatism for the past two weeks. Carleton Bartlett came up from Berkeley Saturday evening, accompanied by Mrs S. W. Bright. He came on business concerning the Bright estate, and left again Tuesday morning. Mrs Bright will remain here for several weeks at any rate.

Chris Marella came home last week on a hurried call in consequence of an accident to his son, Hubert. The child was playing with his sister on Tuesday evening of last week, and accidentally fell from a lounge, falling in such a way as to fracture his collar bone. He is under the care of Dr. Gall, and recovering rapidly.

A Reed, who came here with L. Keith to assist in the moving picture show, left Saturday last to return to his home in Angeles Camp.

Chicken thieves have been operating pretty lively among the chicken roosts on Broadway lately. James Harris missed eight from his flock one morning. The chicken house door was locked too but this did not seem to worry the raiders much. The only claw left was a Bryan button, which the owner had no further use for after the signal defeat of the peerless one from Nebraska. Other parties complain of missing their chickens. A strict watch is being set in expectation of a return of the intruders.

San Francisco offers great opportunities. Prepare for them by taking a course in the San Francisco Business College, 733 Fillmore St., S. F.

John Fox, who had both hands broken at the wrists recently from a fall from a tree while gathering fruit in his orchard at Scottsville, was able to show up on the streets in the early part of the week.

The number of hunting licenses for the current year in this county up to the beginning of this week was 858, which is about 100 short of the record of last year.

The board of supervisors met last Monday for the purpose of canvassing the returns. There were but few changes from the semi-official figures as published in these columns last week. The table, as corrected, is published elsewhere in this issue. Every citizen should keep a copy of this table for political reference hereafter.

The Rev. C. E. Winning, former pastor of the M. E. church, accompanied by Mrs. Winning, came from Grass Valley Tuesday, to be present at the Coffman-Smith wedding.

PIONEER FLOUR always has been and still is the best.

On account of over stock and small quaraters will sell trimmed hats, feathers, wings, ribbons, velvets, flowers and all goods pertaining to first-class millinery at 25 per cent less than regular price for a short time only, so call early. Hats trimmed to order by first-class city trimmer, Mrs K. L. Delahide, Main street, Webb Bldg., up stairs opposite Vela & Piccard's.

Ben Fuller was cut in the head and shoulder while employed in the Argonaut mine yesterday. His injuries are not serious.

Matt Muldoon, son of Mr and Mrs M. Muldoon, is suffering from scarlet fever, the only case of contagion in this city.

Mrs Williamson of Amador City, is visiting her sister, Mrs C. Meiss, for a few days, previous to her departure for Gold Run, Nevada, where Mr Williamson, formerly assayer at the Keystone, is employed in a responsible position. R. Vance expects to go to the same place soon under engagement.

China Painting.

Miss Carrie Anthony has on display in the window of McGary's store samples of her handwork in painting on china. The samples comprise all colors and different designs, and the exhibits in this decorative art have been greatly admired by all. She spent five or six months in the study of this art, with the most expert instructors in San Francisco, and there are in this line in that city some of the most expert professors in the United States. Miss Anthony is prepared to give lessons in classes in this study. It is not difficult to learn, any person with ordinary intelligence can master it in a short time, sufficiently at least to make use of it in the decoration of the home. It does not require genius like oil painting. It is more of a mechanical art. It is a very interesting and useful accomplishment, and Miss Anthony, as her display work demonstrates, is an adept in this line. Persons desiring to learn should take advantage of this opportunity by making arrangements to join the class of instruction under Miss Anthony at once. She will be pleased to give all particulars to inquirers at the Anthony residence on the Hamilton tract.

Fine Potatoes.

John Harker brought to the Ledger office this week samples of potatoes grown on his mountain place three miles above Pine Grove, this season. The potatoes are very large, and of that excellent quality of which the mountain product is noted. No finer potatoes can be grown anywhere. He planted a small plot 60x70 feet in size; irrigated it of course, and from this tract he gathered 68 sacks of potatoes, averaging 100 pounds to the sack. These he found a ready sale for at 2 cents per pound, making the value of the product $136. As the size of patch is less than one-tenth of an acre, this would yield at the rate of about $1400 per acre. Where can such a record be beaten. Certainly, not every mountain ranch is capable of such a yield, but where irrigation can be had, along the small creek bottoms, the same results can be attained, and there are lots of such places in the mountains.

Lost.

On Monday last, between the Express office and the new Kennedy office, by way of the Kennedy grade, a Colt's Automatic Pistol, 32 caliber. The finder will be rewarded on leaving the same at the superintendent's office at the Kennedy mine.

From North Dakota.

J. B. Flintercraft and wife arrived here from North Dakota the early part of the week, intending to make their home in this county. Mr Flintercraft has purchased the ranch of A. A. Harmon, near New York Ranch, and will occupy the same. He was here several years ago, living for a while in Sutter Creek. Mrs Flintercraft is a daughter of the late J. H. Giles of Sutter Creek. After an experience of the bleak winters of Dakota, they decided to return to the genial climate of California, where they can live in comfort all the year round.

Argued the Le Doux Case.

District Attorney George F. McNoble was in Sacramento yesterday afternoon arguing for the second time the case of the people against Emma LeDoux, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Albert McVicar in this city two years ago. Attorney Charles H. Fairall argued at length for the condemned woman and again the famous trunk murder case is finally submitted to the highest tribunal in the state for final judgment. Mr Fairall came to Stockton last night accompanied by Mr McNoble. Independent, Nov. 10.

"I have been somewhat coactive, but Doan's Regulets gave just the result desired. They act mildly and regulate the bowels perfectly."—George B. Krause, 306 Walnut Ave., Altoona, Pa.

A Good Tramp.

S. S. Pratt, an old timer of Amador City, and formerly supervisor representing Township 4 on the board of supervisors, was around several days this week greeting old acquaintances. He has been located in Sacramento for the past two years, and has been working in an ice factory in the capital city. He is 67 years of age, and his doctor recommended him to take exercise for dyspepsia. So he decided upon a long walk from Sacramento to Jackson. He made the trip in three days. The first day's tramp was from Sacramento to Cosumnes, the next to Forest Home, and the third day reaching Jackson. He is the same jolly old Pratt, as jovial and good natured as ever. He expects to return by the same foot conveyance, for his health's sake. He is disgusted at his native state Missouri going republican.

Dyspepsia is our national ailment. Burdock Blood Bitter is the natural cure for it. It strengthens stomach membranes, promotes flow of digestive juices, purifies the blood, builds you up.

A Pioneer Lady Passes Away.

Mrs Julia Ginoecchio, widow of the late Enrico Ginoecchio, died at her home on Summit street on Sunday evening last at 11 o'clock. Death was no surprise to the relatives and friends. For several days she had been hovering between life and death. Deceased had been ailing for fully a year, but the last few weeks the sickness rapidly developed into a fatal character.

The funeral took place Wednesday morning. Services were conducted in the Catholic church by the Rev. Father Kearney. Friends and relatives of the deceased from all parts of the county and also from beyond the borders of Amador, came to pay the final tribute of respect to the departed. Among those from the outside may be mentioned, Mrs Guisto, sister of deceased, and nephew, John Guisto, Mrs Girolami, neice, Mrs Raggio and daughter of San Francisco, Mr Belgrano of San Francisco, Mrs Castle of Stockton, Mrs Eudey of Oakland, Dr. Olivera of Stockton. The pallbearers were D. B. Spagnoli, V. S. Gattarini, Wm. Tam, F. W. Rubser, Dr. Olivera, and Mr Belgrano. The floral pieces were numerous and some of them of very elaborate design. One piece, representing a broken column was especially noticeable. The flowers covered not only the grave but the entire family plot. The remains were laid by the side of deceased's husband, Enrico Ginoecchio, who preceded her to the land of silence about four years ago.

Deceased had been a resident of Jackson from pioneer days. She was esteemed far and wide. She leaves a family of four daughters and one son, all grown up, besides a number of grandchildren to mourn her departure from life's activities.

Chinn-Beretta's Optician Here.

The Chinn-Beretta Optical Company is the largest in the west. It has more stores, more factories and more opticians than any three or four coast houses put together. It does a good deal for our citizens in sending its expert here to fit glasses and save us the expense of a special trip to Sacramento. Let us send him all the trade possible. He will be at F. W. Rubser's well known Pharmacy Thursday, November 19.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are unequalled in cases of weak back, black ache, inflammation of the bladder, rheumatic pains, and all urinary disorders. They are antiseptic and act promptly. Every case of kidney or bladder trouble should be attended to at once, and the aches in the back, rheumatic pains, urinary disorders, etc., are warning signs. Don't delay, for delays are dangerous. Get DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. Regular size 50c. Sold by City Pharmacy, F. W. Rubser, Prop.

Political Notes.

While less than one half the voters on an average expressed themselves on the various constitutional amendments it is worthy of note that over two-thirds voted on the capital removal question. The proposition that commanded the next highest vote was amendment No. 1, to change the system of taxation, which drew out nearly fifty per cent of the voters, and was badly beaten. Both propositions to bond the state for harbor improvements on the San Francisco water front carried by small majorities as far as Amador is concerned.

E. B. Moore, the republican candidate for assemblyman, received the biggest majority ever give a candidate in this assembly district. He carried every county by an increased vote over the head of the ticket. We haven't the exact figures to hand, but his majority over Lange, will be over 1000. That is running some, when the fact is taken into consideration that the total vote cast in the district is less than 5000.

A Terrible Case.

One of the most terrible cases ever treated at the county hospital was brought to that institution last Monday afternoon. The patient was an Italian named Eliso Vetrotti. He was brought from Drytown, but how long he had been in that place we have not heard. He was only 48 years old, but in appearance, owing to the ravages of disease, he looked fully 70 years. He was in the last stages of syphilitic poisoning. He was really in a dying condition when brought to Jackson, being practically eaten away with sores. Dr. Eudicott operated upon him, removing a mass of matter from one leg. But it had little effect in arresting the progress of the frightful malady. He died Wednesday afternoon, and the remains were buried the same night.

Last year 1050 cars of grapes were shipped out of Lodi. Up to date 1067 full cars and 40 partly loaded cars have left this city. In spite of the somewhat lower prices this year, the growers in this vicinity have shipped approximately 37 more cars than last year. This goes to show that the grape industry is bound to grow and that the acreage has increased considerably. If this rate of increase marks the advancement of this great industry, Lodi and northern San Joaquin is constantly growing and will make other districts sit up and take notice.—Lodi Sentinel.

The lone and Eastern rail road has built a new oil tank, it is somewhat of an innovation for this part of the country but is used quite extensively around the oil wells. It is built entirely of concrete, the ground is excavated to the depth of about six feet after which the floor is laid and the walls built. The top is then put on leaving only a hole large enough for a man to enter, this is built right alongside the track, this sump or tank being lower than the tank carrying the oil, allows it to enter by gravitation, which in itself is a saving of expense. This tank is six feet in depth by twenty feet in diameter and holds 14,100 gallons.—Echo.

Mariposa is undoubtedly a healthy county in which to live. Out of 1195 voters registered there are twenty-three over 80 years of age. Galen Clark, one of the first settlers in Yosemite Valley, and known to the world over by those who have visited the great wonderland is the oldest man registered in the county, having spent 94 years on this mundane sphere. James Duff follows a close second with 93 years to his credit, then comes twenty-one others not over ten years Mr Duff's juniors.—Mariposa Gazette.

E. G. Amick, who has taken a position as a salesman for the Brighton Mills, drove up from Sacramento Monday returning Tuesday taking his family with him. They will make their future home in Sacramento.—Echo.

On Saturday of this week it is promised that a car of over five hundred thousand young trout will arrive in Sonora and for free distribution. Owing to the fact that the specially constructed fish car is too long for the curves on the Sugar Pine railroad and cannot be taken to the repository at Lyons Dam, the trout will be distributed from Sonora. Those interested in distributing these fish in the streams of this county will please be on hand to receive the fish.—Independent.

Attorney J. P. Snyder recently secured a fancy shotgun, one of the automatic pumping variety. It was a beauty to look at and in imagination Jake saw himself bringing in the limit every time he went out. Sunday he started out to try the new weapon. While showing it to some admiring sports, it occurred to them to try it. It went all right, only after a shot or two about eight or ten inches of the barrel ripped apart, making an opening in which a man's hand could be inserted. The gun looked like one of those noiseless guns we read about, after the operation.—Prospect.

A Terrible Experience

An accident that would end in a tragedy ninety-nine times out of a hundred occurred at Tuolumne last Saturday. In this instance the hundredth chance was drawn by the participants in the thrilling episode and they can not laugh at an experience neither would care about repeating for a pile of money as big as a house.

J. L. Gibbs, the well-known business man of the East belt town, was having a well dug at one of his places, and was himself working at the windlass, while Philip Pease labored in the well, which had been sunk to a depth of 22 feet. On Saturday afternoon Pease put in two holes in the hard rock, loaded them with giant powder, lighted the fuses, and climbed into the bucket to be hoisted. Gibbs had raised the underground man almost to the surface, when suddenly the windlass handle snapped off, and the long arm of the contrivance, no longer in check, flew around, striking Gibbs and partially stunning him. Appreciating the danger Pease was in he threw himself against the windlass, but this time the rapidly revolving arm knocked him several feet away and by that time Pease had fallen 20 feet and lay where two blasts were due to go off any second. Although dazed and bleeding from the blows he had received, Gibbs scrambled to his feet and seized the rope with his hands, the windlass drum having fallen from the uprights, and tugged desperately to draw Pease away from the certain death that awaited him, at the same time calling out loudly for help. A lady and three men happened to be but a short distance away and they ran to his assistance. By their united efforts Pease was hauled to the surface and just tumbled off to one side of the collar of the well when both blasts went off simultaneously with terrific force.—Sonora Democrat.

On December 31 last, according to Poor's Manual, the railroad mileage of this country had attained the enormous total of $225,123, a gain of $5,362 during the year. The total capital liabilities of railroads amounted to $16,501,413,093, an increase during the twelve months of $807,863,112. Gross earnings during the year footed up $2,602,577,503, and net earnings from operation were $833,839,600. During the year 885,724,314 passengers were carried and 1,722,210,281 tons of freight moved.

So many toys has W. K. Vanderbilt III. he has had them insured for $25,000. Many of them were made for him especially, and are richly finished in gold and silver.

A boy from the city hired out to a Woodbury farmer to do chores. The farmer instructed the lad to salt a calf out in the pasture. The boy took a quart of salt and thoroughly rubbed it all over the calf, working it into the hair. Colts in the pasture scented the salt and got after the calf. They licked all its hair off, and nearly took the hide off, too.

Although the members of royal families and the aristocracy of European nations look down upon tradespeople, King Peter of Serbia owns a barber shop, owns a patent medicine and conducts a motor car agency in his capital. The reigning Prince of Lippe-Detmold deals in butter and eggs, while a prosperous brick factory swells his profits. The King of Wurtemberg is the proprietor of two hotels in his kingdom, and they add $50,000 a year to his revenue.

Wages in Japan.

Consul George H. Seidmore, in a report from Nagasaki on the Japanese mercantile marine, states that the following schedule covers the daily wages of laborers for ten hours' work in shipyards in that country: Boiler-makers, 98; blacksmiths, $12.8; calkers, 49c; coppersmiths, 96c; ship carpenters, 90c; house carpenters, 42c; electricians, 57c; foundry men, $1.02; finishers, $1; lathe workers, 99c; machinists, 51c; molders, 87c; painters, 75c; pipe makers, 80c; punchers, 46c; rivet makers 89c; sail-makers, 55c; screw makers, 47c; ships' iron workers, $1.32.

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless aid to prepare the system for baby's coming and making the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system. Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, back-ache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary spots or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, anteversion or retroversion or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native, medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments. If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the Favorite Prescription, send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

SO FORWARD.

The germ is not a formal chap
He mixes in a ruction,
Not waiting till a mutual friend
Frames up an introduction.
Quite as familiar as you please,
He lights upon a dandy
And after sampling the youth
Pronounces him the candy.

If, seated in an easy chair,
He sees the human brother
He does not hesitate and say,
"We do not know each other."
He goes in on his rubber shoes,
Suspicion not arousing,
And sticks around a week or so
If he enjoys the browsing.

No use to slap him on the wrist
Or cast suspicious glances
At Mr. Germ as to the fray
In millions he advances.
And, though you feed him germs
In doses good and plenty,
He may succumb, but in his place
Will spring up ten or twenty.

The germ is not, you understand,
The worst and meanest ever,
But he must live, and that's enough
Excuse for his endeavor.
He cannot live by etiquette
Or wait for invitations.
He would in that event, I fear,
Be mighty shy on rations.

Fair Substitute.

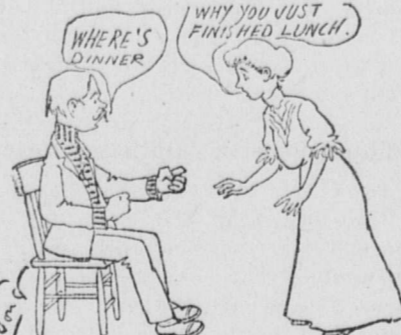

"If you would get along," said the wise old uncle to the poor nephew who was just starting in to work, "make it a rule never to watch the clock."

"Good suggestion, uncle, but I feel you could materially assist me in keeping it."

"By my friendly advice?"

"No; by buying me a watch."

Always Ahead of Time.

"She picked an advance agent for her third husband."

"Did she love him?"

"Not specially, but she thought she would have at least one husband who wouldn't be late to his meals."

Humble Valley.

"What is the name of that cigar you gave me?"

"Pride of the Valley. How do you like it?"

"Oh, so, so."

"What's the matter with it?"

"Nothing, only I was thinking as I smoked it that the valley couldn't have been very proud."

Makes the Money Fly.

"What do you consider the best circulating medium, gold or silver?"

"Neither."

"What, paper?"

"No. Guess again."

"Give it up."

"A woman."

Looking Ahead.

"Why is Maud riding around with that old fossil when there are so many younger men?"

"Never fear but what she knows. Her idea is that bright girls should train up rich uncles in the way they should go."

Had an Object.

"Did you hear Jones bragging of his wife's cooking at the table?"

"He must think she is a wonder."

"Yes, or else he wants to borrow back a few dollars of his salary."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

'You can't forgive a person you don't like for presuming to dislike a person you have selected for the honor.

Some people are perplexed about whom they shall invite to their wedding, but the question of the attendance upon the divorce solves itself.

How very clever a thing it is to suffer and make somebody pay for it!

There is no use in crying, but only the hopelessly utilitarian or the mercenary would cry for use anyway.

It is sometimes amusing to be serious and generally serious to be always amusing.

The happy medium is undoubtedly the one who catches and holds the nimble dollar.

Some people expect a good deal. This is not necessarily synonymous with a square deal.

Doctors have to live even if others must die.

The man who is ambitious to be contented has a funny problem to solve.

The hired girl will probably solve her own problem by reaching the vanishing point.

The large space a man occupies on the payroll isn't always commensurate with the space he fills on the field of labor.

The Best Machines.

The idea that peace could be the normal relation of the nations never entered Napoleon's head or the head of any man about him, declares A. L. Kiehlend in "Napoleon's Men and Methods." In his mind peace could only mean a pause between two wars. He had no idea to give to the world. His thoughts did not go beyond his own life. He shrinks at once in comparison with a man of science, who expends his life to create a thought that will nourish and elevate posterity.

If Napoleon reached the highest summit of a prince and a commander, he was also the last who succeeded in gathering about his person all the glamour that had been wont to accompany and adorn the bloody business of war. There was no more of it after his fall. War became afterward an academic study. Military affairs came to resemble industrial interests, in which it is the best machines that gain the victory.

We now strip our armies of their gold cords and waving plumes. The admiral, who used to stand on the bridge in his gala uniform, with his decorations and sash, now sits in a steel box and presses buttons like a telephone girl. When the glamour goes from a thing it is near its end.

The Greatest General.

All things duly considered, the greatest general of whom we have any knowledge was in all probability the Carthaginian, Hannibal. All the information we have of Hannibal comes from his enemies, and yet what achievements they were forced to credit him with! The second Punic war—the most brilliant in history—was practically one man against a whole nation, and that the strongest then known. With the army that he had molded out of raw and barbarous levies Hannibal had to fight a nation of the stoutest and best trained warriors of ancient times, and he had to do this without any assistance from home. It has been well said that there is nowhere else an example of what a single man of genius may achieve against the most tremendous odds.—New York American.

The Color of Jade.

The idea of jade possessing the virtue of bringing the wearer food fortune arose in China, where the stone is so valued that the finding of a particularly fine piece causes the state to take possession of the land where it was found. The best specimens represent all the hues and effects of sea foam, but these are eagerly snapped up by collectors and seldom come into the public market. There is another cause for the popularity of jade. Its peculiar green tinge has the effect of making the human skin look very white. In this connection the quality of the stone is of no account so long as the color is there. Indeed, many of the less expensive jade ornaments are made from chips of the stone which contain noticeable flaws.—Pearson's.

The Actress' Retort.

Georgette Leblanc, the actress, wife of Maurice Maeterlinck, was on tour in a French town, where the local company "supported" her in one of her husband's plays.

But the support was weak and halting. The poet's lines were mangled, and several characters seemed unable to understand what they were saying. Mme. Leblanc sought out her manager and spoke to him.

"A writer like Maeterlinck should be treated with more respect."

"Madame," he answered, "M. Maeterlinck is not the first to suffer. Sophocles, Moliere, Racine, Shakespeare, Goethe and other great dramatists are daily murdered in the same way."

"Possibly, but they are not murdered alive, at any rate."

The Unappreciative Londoner.

London is a marvel. But we Londoners do not wax passionate over its qualities as the enthusiastic Frenchman does over his Paris. There is more beauty, more charm, more wealth, more culture and more art to be found in London than anywhere in the world, and we stolid English people do not really appreciate it.—London Graphic.

An Unwritten Law.

The smaller man bristled up. "See here," he growled, "you have applied two unpleasant terms to me." Then he paused and scowled and came a little closer. "I just want you to understand that a third term doesn't go in this country."

Whereupon the big man drew back a little and said no more.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Drummer—Ah! That is very interesting. I know now where the straw came from that broke the camel's back!—Puck.

His Was Hers.

"I heard him behind the door pleading for just one. They must be engaged."

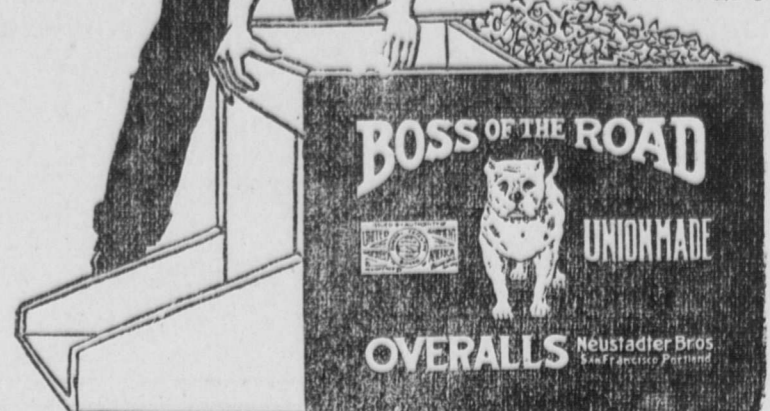

"Naw, they're married. It was a dollar he was pleading for."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Baby Will Get Even.
